DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claim 9 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for “the step of heating said first extracted soybean oil to a temperature of from about 450°F to about 500° F under a vacuum to remove free fatty acids from said first extracted soybean oil when utilizing physical refining”, does not reasonably provide enablement for this step with only or method of processing. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

It is stated on page 8, lines 12-16 these conditions are applicable to mechanical extraction of the oil from the soybean not solvent extraction which the term “extraction embraces in claim 9 as written.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2, 4, 8, 16-17, 19-20, 22 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by JP-56/078561.

Art Unit: 1621

JP'561 teaches a process wherein soybeans are flaked, the oil separated from the flakes and the residual flakes are solvent extracted. The solvent extraction step is conducted using hexane. While the percentage of oil removed is not stated, solvent extraction processes wherein soybean flakes are used releases up to 99.5% of its oil. The JP'561 process inherently reads the instant oil extracted ratios.

Allowable Subject Matter

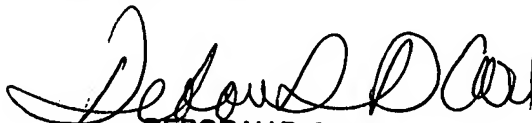

4. Claims 3, 5-7, 10, 18, 21, 23 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
5. Claims 11-15 are allowed.
6. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Deborah D. Carr whose telephone number is 571-272-0637. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday 8:30-5:00.
